A bird may be known by its song. This proverb is very actual nowadays. I guess everyone will accept the opinion that this proverb is an absolute truth. I understand this proverb like you can only know truth about person's character by his speeches and actions. The real character is not in what clothes person wears but what ideas he trusts and tells others.

I have the real example of that proverb in my own life. In the ~~seventh~~ seventh grade we had a new student in our class. He was not ~~good~~ good-looking and was wearing dirty clothes and everyone thought that he is rude and aggressive. ~~Some~~ After a few days we had a group project with a new student and he was so kind and responsible! We ~~was shocked~~ were shocked! And we became friends very fast.

At the end I want to say that appearance is not always truth and we can know about a person only with real tests and face-to-face meetings. I like this proverb.
